Copyright Transfer and Publication Agreement

Journal Title: Migration, Asylum & Citizenship Law Review (MAC Law Review)

Article Title:

Manuscript ID (if applicable):

We, the undersigned, hereby declare and agree as follows:

1. Authorship and Approval

- Each author listed has contributed sufficiently to the study and takes responsibility for its content.
- The manuscript in its submitted form (including figures, tables, images, and supporting materials) is original, has not been published elsewhere (in whole or part), and is not under consideration by another journal.
- All co-authors have seen and approved the final version of the manuscript and consent to its submission to MAC Law Review.

2. Copyright and License

- Upon acceptance, the authors assign to MAC Law Review (Teebrook Publications) exclusive rights to publish the article in all media (print and digital) for the full term of copyright and its renewals and extensions.
- Nevertheless, authors retain the right to reuse and distribute their work non-commercially (e.g. institutional repository, personal website) provided proper citation of the original MAC Law Review publication is given.
- The article (if published) will be made available under the Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License (CC BY 4.0), granting users the right to share and adapt the work with appropriate credit to the authors and the Journal.

3. Permissions for Third-Party Material

The authors confirm that all third-party materials (e.g. images, tables, maps, long quotations) included in the manuscript have been used with proper permission and licensing, and that such permissions are documented and submitted alongside the manuscript.

4. Warranty and Indemnity

The authors warrant that the manuscript does not infringe any copyright, proprietary rights, or violate any laws. The authors agree to indemnify and hold harmless the Journal, editors, and publisher from any claims or legal actions arising from copyright infringement or other violations.

5. Post-Publication Modifications and Retractions

The Journal reserves the right to make editorial adjustments (e.g. formatting, copyediting) in consultation with the authors. In cases of ethical breaches (e.g. plagiarism, data fabrication), the Journal may retract or correct the article, stating reasons publicly and linking to the original as required by academic standards.

6. Jurisdiction

This Agreement is governed by the applicable laws of the country in which the publisher is incorporated United Kingdom. Any dispute arising under or in connection with this Agreement shall be resolved under those laws.
